A. Ellis Proudfit, president of the First National bank, aged 62, died at his home 113 W. Washington ave. at 10 o'clock Monday night. At 9 o'clock he suffered a stroke of apoplexy. An hour later he was dead. Until a few minutes before he was stricken, he had been in good health. The pallbearers will be the following:

Honorary—John Corseot, Frank W. Hoyt, F. W. Montgomery, E. B. Steensland, L. M. Hanks, Edward J. Young, James B. Ramsey, William R. Bagley, H. L. Moseley, William S. Marshall, A. Breese Morris, Fred M. Brown, Judge R. D. Marshall, Prof. Ernest Voss.

James Crank Morris of Grace Episcopal church officiating. Special music is to be rendered by members of the staff of the Wheeler school of music. Services at Forest Hill cemetery will be private.

Mr. Proudfit was born in Wisconsin in 1857, coming to Madison when a mere boy. When the Fuller & Johnson company had its office on Spring street, Mr. Proudfit obtained his first job with that firm. He went in as bookkeeper.

Later, when the firm changed to the E. Washington ave., location, he remained with it. He was identified in the lumber business at Ideford, some years later with J. B. Ramsey of this city, now president of the Ramsey Lumber Co. and treasurer and manager of the French Battery & Carbon Co., and still later became a member of the Young & Stephenson Co., Inc. of this city, acting as secretary with E. J. Young, 151 East Gilman street, as president, and G. T. Stephenson as vice president. The firm dealt in timber, logs and lumber. Mr. Proudfit also had extensive real estate connections.

Upon the retirement of the late M. B. Van Slyke as president of the First National bank a number of years ago, Mr. Proudfit was tendered the position and accepted it, continuing in that capacity until his death. He is survived by his wife and two daughters, Mrs. Dudley Montgomery of this city and Mrs. Kenneth Templeton of Chicago. Three brothers, Frank, Stanley, and Austin, and a sister, Mrs. Geo. Hopkins, of New York, died some years ago. Mrs. Hopkins was the mother of Mr. Proudfit's son, Johnson.

Mr. Proudfit married in 1884, his wife being Miss Clara L. Luscombe of Indianapolis. Andrew Proudfit, father of the deceased, was a prominent businessman in Madison in his day. He also held an office in the First National bank, being vice president for many years. He represented Dane county in the state senate during the session of 1858 and 1859, was mayor of Madison for two terms, 1869 to 1871, and was long identified with many of the public improvements and prominent business enterprises of the city and state.

An important contractor, he built most of the old capitol building, destroyed by fire in 1904, doing the work in 1864. Later he constructed two wings of the state hospital for the insane across Lake Mendota and built most of the state prison at Waupun. As vice president one of the original 46 members of the Madison business board, he promoted, in 1869, the completion of the Northwestern railroad from Footville, 55 miles south of here, to Madison. He was also an important contractor of war supplies during the civil war. He died here Nov. 12, 1883.

HOWAT OUT OF JAIL; GIVES JUDGE WORD

1,000 Men Quit in Kansas Following Action of Judge Anderson

MEETING POSTPONED

Controversy Over Coal Strike Will Not be Taken Up at Present

(By the Associated Press)
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—Alexander Howat, president of the Kansas district of the United Mine Workers, was released from the Marion county jail today by United States District Judge A. B. Anderson. Howat agreed to join the international officials of the mine workers in sending telegrams to the district executive board in Kansas in an endeavor to have all strikes in the Kansas coal mines ended. Howat was released on his previous bail and if the agreement is carried out in good faith, the contempt hearing, set for next Monday probably will be discontinued against Howat, as in the cases of the other international and district officials of the mine workers. The telegrams to the Kansas miners' executive board not only will ask the return of the men out on the coal strike since last July but will order the return of the men who struck yesterday and in protest against Judge Anderson's action in sending Howat to jail.

(By the Associated Press)
PITTSBURG, Kas.—Seventeen Kansas coal mines, where approximately three thousand miners are employed, were idle this morning. The miners went on strike in protest against the action of Judge Anderson yesterday, sending Alexander Howat, president of the Kansas district United Mine Workers to jail.

Coal Controversy Over
(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON—The controversy between the operators and Attorney Gen. Palmer regarding the coal strike settlement terms probably will go over until after the Christmas holidays.

The statement of Mr. Palmer that "the government will not assume that the operators will break faith and, indeed, ways will be found to keep them in this vitally important transaction" was considered Tuesday by those directly concerned in the coal situation. In some quarters it was regarded as an indication that Attorney Gen. Palmer planned to bring the full pressure of the government to bear if necessary to carry out Pres. Wilson's proposal. The operators have maintained silence since the executive committee issued the statement Sunday declaring that the price proposal as finally drafted was vitally different from the plan proposed by former Fuel Administrator Garfield and which they had agreed to accept. The proposed meeting in Cleveland Tuesday to discuss the terms has been called off and it was said the operators agreed to withhold announcement of their policy toward the government proposal until the conference.

"Despite the operators' refusal to accept the terms," Atty. Gen. Palmer said, "the commission will proceed with its work and I have no doubt that upon further reflection the operators will see the wisdom of hearty cooperation with it."

TWO YOUTHFUL CRIMINALS SENT TO GREEN BAY

Madison Lads Will spend Christmas in State Reformatory

Arthur Olson and James Murphy, youthful forgers, will wake up in Green Bay reformatory Christmas morning. Olson, who is only 17, was sentenced to two years, Tuesday. Murphy was sentenced Monday. Sheriff Julius Krug will take the boys to Green Bay, Wednesday. Olson has been before the court before but has always gained clemency as it was believed he would reform if given encouragement. His last offense was to forge a check for $18 and cash it at Bernstein's shoe store, 809 University ave. Murphy is the alleged leader of the famous "Bevo Bums," whose depredations were finally broken up last spring. "Of the entire lot," said Roman Heiman, district attorney, Tuesday noon, "Murphy is the only one who, to my knowledge, has not embraced the chance to make good. It is no pleasure to send these boys away but placing them on the honor system has apparently failed. Perhaps a term away from home will be the making of them."

CLARK H. GETTS IN THE CITY

Noted Conscientious Objector on His Way to Home at Whitehall

Clark H. Getts, who for more than a year was imprisoned at Fort Leavenworth and Alcatraz, as a conscientious objector, was in Madison today on his way to his home at Whitehall, Wis., to spend Christmas. "The offense of the objectors, it seems to me," said Mr. Getts, "was that they took the law too seriously. The objector is a law observer; not a law breaker. Having spent seven years obtaining a legal training, I was impressed with the terrible aspects of slaying, the most heinous offense possible, the only offense for which the state was justified in taking a man's life. When I took my training too seriously and refused to take the lives of fellow workers abroad, I found that the tables had been reversed and that, for observing the legal cautions against slaying, I had become the criminal. I received a life sentence."

When I went to Camp Grant early in 1915," Mr. Getts continued, "Assistant Secretary of War Keppel visited me. I had known him at Columbia university, when he was dean of the undergraduate college and executive secretary of the Carnegie Peace foundation. The secretary observed that as a minority thinker the constitution did give me a right to assert my opinions concerning the war, but insisted that in the interest of army morale, it would be necessary to make an example of my case."

"If you are not punished," he said, "there will be 25,000 young fellows back in Wisconsin and as many in Chicago, who will read of the case and follow your example." "Well, if that is the case," I replied, "I am not a minority thinker and this war is not a majority war."

PLANS MADE HERE AGAINST PROFITEERS

Tenney, Wolfe and Ries Will Cooperate in the Wisconsin Campaign

PALMER IN PROMISE

Says Prices Will Come Down After the First of the Year

A full plan of cooperation between state and federal authorities in attacking the high cost of living problem was decided upon here in a conference this afternoon between U. S. Dist. Attorney A. C. Wolfe, Federal Price Commissioner Charles H. Tenney and Alvin C. Ries, counsel for the state division of markets. Evidence of cases of hoarding was considered at the conference. The cooperation plan provides that Mr. Tenney shall have the determination of fair margins of profit, that the division of markets at the state capitol shall have the investigation of costs of production, and U. S. Dist. Attorney Wolfe shall have charge of the prosecution and condemnation of hoarded supplies. It is believed that by all of these different departments cooperating the high cost of living problem can be successfully tackled in Wisconsin.

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON—The American people have been informed by Attorney General Palmer that they may expect a decline in retail food prices with the advent of the new year, and coming at this time, the announcement will add cheer to the Yuletide celebration. Retail food prices ordinarily show a downward trend during the first two months of a year. Attorney General Palmer explained and it is believed "that this trend will be accelerated this year by the campaign initiated by the government which is just now getting well underway."

Primary factors involved in the cost of living, which is already under control, the attorney general said, are increased production, the elimination of extravagant buying and the determined hunting down of profiteers. "If everyone who produces will produce his utmost, if those who buy and consume will save and eliminate extravagance, and if all honest people will join with the department of justice in stamping out profiteering and hoarding the cost of living can be reduced," he declared.

Women Decrease Prices.

CHICAGO—Reorganization of Illinois women to combat the high cost of living today was given credit by the state fair price commission for driving down in two days the retail selling price of fresh eggs from 77 cents to 65 cents a dozen. "Watch them tumble some more, and butter, potatoes, high priced coffee and the other high flyers with them," said Major A. A. Sprague, chairman of the commission. "No one will eat fresh eggs now," he added. "No housewife will buy a fresh egg all this week. Seventy thousand women have joined the fight against high prices."

3 Boys Engaged To Read Meters Steal Whiskey

JANESVILLE—The newest wrinkle in whiskey stealing was uncovered here by police when three boys, employed by the city to read water meters, confessed to the theft of seven quarts of "Old Taylor" and "Flebbledorf" whiskey. Chief Thomas Morrissey declared. All are between 16 and 18 years old, being high school students.

New York Eats Whale Instead of Usual Fowl

NEW YORK—A consignment of 5,000 pounds of whale meat from Alaska was offered at markets Tuesday as a substitute for expensive holiday fowl. Whale steaks brought from 20 to 25 cents a pound. The principal purchasers then were Japanese, to whom the meat was no novelty. Despite the fact that cold weather has resulted in higher poultry prices, market men declare there never has been a greater demand for high grades of fowl. Turkeys topped the list, fine Maryland birds selling at 65 to 75 cents a pound.

C. H. CROWNHART NAMED REVISOR OF STATUTES

Well Known Attorney is Chosen by Court to Succeed L. J. Nash

Announcement was made on Tuesday of the appointment by the board of trustees of Charles H. Crownhart as revisor of the statutes. He will assume his new duties on Feb. 1. L. J. Nash, Marquette, who resigned some time ago to take effect on Feb. 1, has held the position for a number of years. The board of trustees, who have the election of the revisor of the statutes, is composed of the justices of the supreme court and the attorney general. The salary of the position is $5,000. The announcement was made by the court on Tuesday that Mr. Crownhart has accepted the position.

Mr. Crownhart is a well known lawyer of the state and recently represented over 300 soldier students of the state in the litigation over the soldier bonus law in the supreme court. Crownhart was born in Fond du Lac county, April 18, 1862. His father was a veteran of the Civil war, who in 1890 moved to Barron county. Crownhart was educated in the district schools until 16 years of age. He then qualified as a teacher and spent five years in the work of the school room in Pierce county. In the meantime he was a student at the normal school at River Falls and finally entered the law department of the university, where he graduated with the class of 1889. First he practiced law at Elsworth and later at Superior. In 1911, Mr. Crownhart was appointed as a member of the state industrial commission. For four years prior to this he was district attorney of Douglas county and for seven years a state normal school reagent.

Since leaving the industrial commission Mr. Crownhart has been engaged in the practice of law at Madison.

Crisis Appears in Dutch Government

THE HAGUE—Post-war defense problems, closely allied with the problematical result of the formation of the league of nations, have brought about what appears to be a crisis in the Dutch government. Following the resignation of Jonkheer Byleveld, minister of marine, last week, Alting Van Geusau, war minister, announced his resignation Tuesday when the Dutch states general amended his war budget and greatly reduced the sums available for munitions.

12 MADISON MEN UNDER INDICTMENT

Profiteers, Violators of Liquor Laws and Other Cases Are Hit

NO ARRESTS TODAY

30 Witnesses Went to La Crosse From Madison to Testify

About a dozen indictments have been returned by the federal grand jury sitting at La Crosse against citizens of Madison. These indictments take the form of three classes of violations: 1—Violation of the liquor laws of the state. 2—Profiteering in sugar and clothing. 3—Thefts from postoffices of the railroad under federal control. No warrants were ready for service on Tuesday. The clerk's office is preparing all of the warrants, but it now seems probable that they will not be served until after Christmas. District Attorney A. C. Wolfe said that he did not expect that any of the men indicted would be served and arraigned on Tuesday and that he expected to return to La Crosse Wednesday noon. "I shall serve the warrants just the minute they reach my desk," said United States Marshall Frank O'Connor Tuesday. "There will be no delay in this office."

It is intimated that some of the citizens of Madison sold whiskey and alcohol; that others have made an unusual and exorbitant profit from sugar and that there have been minor violations. "These violations are not confined to Madison," said District Attorney A. C. Wolfe today. "The same character of indictments have been returned all over the western district. We are going to put a stop to these violations and I am going to ask for the highest penalties to bring this about."

There was information that some men high in affairs in a business way in Madison had been caught in the net of the grand jury, but no names were given out. It is said that fully thirty witnesses went from Madison to La Crosse to give testimony.

It is said that arrests have been made in other parts of the state where the testimony showed that a shoe merchant was making over 115 per cent on a pair of shoes. Scores of school boys were called before the grand jury in La Crosse. Just what they were there for appeared a puzzle at the time. It now becomes known that they were called to testify as to what they paid for clothes. It was found that in certain lines in some cities of the state, not in Madison, that suits that cost the merchant $25 were sold for $55 and $60.

These men will be arrested in time to make good New Year's resolutions," commented District Attorney Wolfe.

VIRGO ACCUSED IN STATEMENT BY MRS. TABOR

Mother Declares Virgo Performed Illegal Operation on Girl

LAWTON, Mich.—A signed statement accusing Joseph Virgo of performing an illegal operation upon Maud Tabor has been made by Mrs. Sarah I. Tabor, 80-year-old mother of the dead woman. Assistant Prosecutor Glen Warner announced Tuesday morning.

The statement, which is in direct contradiction to the story told by the aged woman at the inquest covers 30 pages and was made to him Warner declared, in the jail at Paw Paw, near here, shortly after midnight.

Mrs. Tabor charges that Virgo, who was married to Miss Tabor about a year before her disappearance in 1916, took her to a deserted farm house somewhere in the neighborhood of Lawton, kept her there three days and then brought her home where she died. The statement adds that Virgo crammed the body of his wife into what was to have been her "Honey chest" and conveyed it into the cellar after she had prevented him from shipping the trunk out of the state. Virgo has been held in the county jail at Paw Paw nearly a month.

In her testimony at the inquest Mrs. Tabor brought back from California with her son, Walter, on a charge of murder, denied she had any knowledge of a criminal operation or any reason for one. This testimony was given after A. S. Weismann, University of Michigan pathologist, declared that a laboratory analysis of the woman's viscera proved she had died of hemorrhage incident to induced childbirth. Mrs. Tabor maintained that her daughter had died in her arms in their home here from an overdose of chloroform taken to relieve asthma. She told a dramatic story of how in fulfillment of a death pact whereby she and her daughter were to be buried together she had withheld the body from burial. She declared that she had placed the body in the "Honey chest" and by means of a rope snubbed over a door knob had lowered it into the basement where it was concealed.

BRITISH TO GIVE COLONY MORE POWER

King George Characterizes Proclamation as a Historic Act

PARLIAMENT PROROGUED

King Regrets That There is no Improvement in the Russian Situation

(By the Associated Press)
LONDON—King George issued a proclamation today announcing the new measure giving India a larger degree of self-government. The proclamation characterizes the government bill as a historic act, giving representation long desired by the natives. It calls for the determination of the people and the officials to work together for the common purpose of making the new plan of government a success. The house of commons was prorogued until Feb. 10. The session was formally closed by the king's speech of prorogation. The king referred to the ratification of the peace treaties that have passed the final stages and expressed the hope that others would soon be concluded. He voiced regret over the conditions in Russia and alluded to the friendliness of the relations among the allied powers. The speech recorded the conclusion of the agreement with Persia, mentioned the satisfaction over the cordiality of the reception accorded the Prince of Wales in America and announced the measures taken to give India a responsible government.

The speech foreshadowed a reduction in the national debt. It reviewed the gravity of the economic situation in Europe and dealt with the question of domestic legislation, including that affecting labor. "I signified my approval of the treaty of peace with Germany," the speech continued "and ratified it. Peace still remains to be concluded with the Ottoman empire and the republic of Hungary. I earnestly trust that the negotiations to this purpose will shortly be brought to a satisfactory conclusion."

"I regret," said the king, "that there is no improvement in the unhappy conditions in Russia and no immediate prospect in that country of the establishment of the constitutional government which alone can conduce to its permanent prosperity."

"My relations with my allies and associates in the great war remain of the most friendly character and I expect that the intimate cooperation which led to victory will be long continued to the benefit of all."

"In August last my government concluded an agreement tending to cement the ties of friendship between the two countries which have so many interests in common and to promote the welfare and progress of Persia."

"To the members of the house of commons the king gave his thanks for their provision during the year for the public expenditure, which had continued abnormal. "The condition of our finances and the state of our credit continue to occupy the serious attention of my ministers," he went on. "Only by strict economy, both in public and private expenditure, and sustained by increased production can the country maintain its historic position in commerce and finance."

BENJ. ANDERSON, SAUK COUNTY'S LEPER, IS DEAD

Death Comes to Him at His Home Near Deerfield

Benjamin Anderson, the only leper in Sauk county, is dead at his home near Deerfield, according to word received by the poor commissioner of Sauk county, W. H. Ode. Mr. Anderson has made his home with his son, Andrew B. Anderson, since last March. He had been suffering with the disease for years, but soon after coming to his son's home, was treated by Dr. Amundson of Cambridge. Shortly afterwards he was examined at the University clinic, where the belief that he was suffering from leprosy was confirmed.

At the last session of the board of supervisors of Sauk county an appropriation was made to erect a special building at the county farm near Reedsburg for Anderson's care. The home near Deerfield was a L shaped building and he and his wife, who cared for him, occupied one wing and the son and his family the other. Testimony of the son, taken in county court, disclosed that objections to his father's presence in the neighborhood were made by the residents in that section.

RAP LENROOT ON R. R. PLAN

Attitude of Senator on Plumb Plan Condemned by Labor Leader

The Madison Federation of Labor and all central labor bodies in the state have received letters from R. Rap Lenroot, chairman of the legislative and resolutions committee of the La Crosse Trades and Labor council condemning the attitude of Sen. Irvine L. Lenroot on labor questions.

While the Knutson letter specifically takes the senator to task for his recent assertion that the Plumb plan for railroads is "in principle" but one step removed from the bolshevism of Russia, and that the workers will be "too good Americans to support it," the inference is that the entire record of Lenroot is considered inimical to the best interests of workers.

May Back Thompson
The wide circulation of the Knutson letter, which, it is suggested, "you file for use prior to election" is taken by political "doctors" here to indicate a wide and permanent breach between Sen. Lenroot and organized labor.

It is taken by many to mean that labor plans to back James Thompson against Lenroot in the event the La Crosse man is a candidate for the republican senatorial nomination next fall.

While Thompson has not committed himself to the Plumb plan, it is known that he favors some form of government ownership and heartily opposes the return of the roads to their private owners with a guarantee of dividend on their capitalized valuation, such guarantees as are provided by the Esch, Cummins, and Lenroot measures. Close friends of Thompson say he believes the Plumb proposal, while it may be open to amendment, bears the earmarks of a possible solution of the problem.

Knutson's Letter
The Knutson letter follows: Dec. 16, 1919.
"To all city central bodies in the State of Wisconsin, greetings:
"As chairman of the legislative and resolutions committee of the La Crosse Trades and Labor council, I feel it my duty as a trade unionist to inform the rank and file of the labor movement of this state of the reply which we received from Irvine Lenroot, U. S. senator from this state, in answer to a resolution and letter which we sent him. The resolution was to the effect that we condemned all bills pending before congress which had to do with the returning of the railroads to their private owners with a guarantee from the government for a substantial dividend on their capitalized valuation.

"I am enclosing herewith a copy of the letter which I sent Mr. Lenroot, copy of his reply thereto, and again our reply to his letter. I feel that these letters are self explanatory, but in passing I feel that it will not be amiss to mention the necessity at this time, and until the next election, to keep the rank and file informed as to the attitude which our so-called representatives, both in state and the national legislatures maintain towards labor.

"May I also ask that this letter be read in at least two or three consecutive meetings so as to give all your delegates an opportunity to learn of the contents, herein, and then that you file same for use prior to election. Would also suggest that you have copies of these letters printed in your newspaper so as to inform other workers of the attitude of Mr. Lenroot.

Plumb Plan Not the Issue
"Regardless of whether or not your organization has endorsed the Plumb plan for the operation of railroads, we feel that is not the basic issue involved in this case. Mr. Lenroot's letter says that 'I am sure that when the workers themselves fully understand the Plumb plan they will be too good Americans to support it.' We most emphatically repeat this statement on the part of Lenroot, because we believe that we have an absolute right as American citizens to protest against legislation which has to do with enslaving the workers, and placing them at the mercy of the corporations of this country, which certainly will be done if the Cummins' Lenroot, and Esch bills are enacted into law.

"We sincerely hope that this letter will receive your earnest consideration, and that you will give same the widest publicity possible to the end that we hope to be able to get men in our legislatures who will more ably and honestly represent the interest for which you and I are striving.
"With best wishes and kindest regards, we are,
"R. G. KNUTSON."
"R. G. KNUTSON."

FRENCH GIVE UP HOPE FOR TREATY IN 1919

German Delegate Leaves for Berlin to Consider Latest Allied Note

PARIS — Exchange of ratifications of the German peace treaty before the end of the year is considered in French official circles as impossible. This opinion was formed Tuesday when Kurt Von Lersner, head of the German delegation here, announced that he would be obliged to return to Berlin to consult with the government on the latest allied communication, owing to difficulties of communication and the importance of the document. He will leave for the German capital Tuesday night. He emphasized that his departure was in no wise a rupture of negotiations.

Sec. Dutasta, by instruction from the supreme council, accompanied the allied note with a verbal communication in which it is understood he assured Von Lersner that the allies recognized the economic difficulties in Germany and wished to take them into account.

If proof were given that errors had been made in the estimate of floating material now in the possession of Germany, upon which the allies based their demands for reparation for the sinking of the German ships at Scapa Flow, these demands would be reduced proportionately.

Von Lersner expressed no opinion on the document presented by Dutasta.

MODERN SAINT MUST FOLLOW TO LAY PLANS HUMAN SERVICE FOR DRY RULE

Chicago Professor is
Speaker at Unitarian
Church Sunday

That poverty, ignorance, and dogmatism are forces inhuman with the ideals of modern sainthood was developed in a sermon by Dr. A. E. Hayden, professor of philosophy in the University of Chicago, speaking in the Unitarian church Sunday on the subject, "A Modern Saint."

"The new saint will place human needs above metaphysical speculations; he will face forward; be a creator, a builder, a new future—he shall see larger and higher ideals for humanity. The saint will be the man who can battle onward in spite of pain, anguish and suffering, who shrives himself, who refuses to accept defeat, and who forges out with an unconquerable soul," declared Dr. Hayden.

"The mediaeval saint renounced the world to get in connection with God. The 'saved man' of Protestantism who by a supernatural grace was somehow elevated above the great mass of unwashed humanity, was not a democratic conception of sainthood. Too often he was untouchable and pharisaical. Another type of saint was the mystic who exalted a world of spirit over this world."

"These beliefs have now become altered. All things have come into the white light of science. We have abandoned supernatural world. We have no longer a specially conducted tour through this 'veil of tears' for a select few. The new saint will be a commoner, but a man of vision."

"We have come to see that all power and achievement is in our own hands. The submissive saint is a danger to democracy, for there must be fearless criticism of the evils around us. The new individual will be awake to his meaning in this great cosmic flow."

A trained mind that can approach the great problems of life with a scientific outlook is essential, Dr. Hayden explained, to this new conception of sainthood.

"Poverty cannot produce this saint, nor while ignorance weighs on the masses can we hope for open mindedness. We must get rid of dogmatizing, for anything that hampers free thinking will militate against my conception of this modern saint."

The saint of today must be one keenly devoted to human service—as was Jesus and Buddha.

"We must build that humanity may get a real joy in living. You can build in any habits you wish, and can deliberately eliminate any you will—psychology will back me up there."

Dr. Hayden announced that next Sunday he would speak on "The New Evangelism."

FRENCH EXCESSES GREAT AS BEFORE
Christmas to be Observed With Even More Expense This Year
PARIS—Illustrating the paradoxical financial position of France, the Petit Parisien compares the government which issues paper without covering fund to an individual who draws checks upon a bank in which he has no money. The traditional expenses of Christmas and New Year's, however, is as great as ever in Paris.

No extravagance seems too great for those wishing to celebrate the season, reports from restaurants showing all seats booked. The popular restaurants, the principal trade of which is business lunches and dinners, are to serve Christmas suppers for the first time.

Major Dalrymple Says
Homes Will Not be
Raided for Liquor

Plans for enforcement of the national prohibition amendment and proposed personnel of the force of field agents which will have charge of carrying out the provisions of the amendment, were to be discussed today at a conference between Maj. A. V. Dalrymple, regional prohibition commissioner for the central district, and F. L. Boyd, internal revenue agent for the Kentucky district, who is assisting him in preliminary organization work, and Burt Williams, internal revenue collector, served in Indiana.

Maj. Dalrymple, who served 13 years in the Philippines, had charge of the work of suppressing the opium and narcotic traffic in those islands, as well as of regulating the liquor traffic.

The proposed force, of 80 field agents which will work in the central district, comprising the states of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan, under the major's direction, will be recruited largely from the present force of internal revenue collectors and agents, it was stated on Sunday.

"This force will be mobile, and will work without regard to state boundaries," Maj. Dalrymple said. "We have no connection whatever with enforcement of the wartime prohibition law, which is directly in the hands of the collector of internal revenue. Our organization will commence to function on Jan. 16, when the national prohibition amendment becomes effective."

No Raids on Homes
"Our plans contemplate no raids whatever on private homes, except on search warrants, based on reliable information that the law is being violated and that such places are a public nuisance."

"Under the provisions of the law amendment, it is not only illegal to distill liquor for private use, but it is also illegal to possess the utensils for distilling."

DEPUTIES TALK OF CLEMENCEAU FOR PRESIDENT

Possibility of Tiger as Executive and Poincare as Premier Discussed

PARIS — That Georges Clemenceau may be the next president of the French republic is the consensus of opinion in the chamber of deputies. Despite the premier's veto upon his candidacy, several members of the chamber are resolved to place his name to the fore and are positive they can count upon the support of 450 members of the chamber and 150 senators.

M. Ramel said newly elected deputies were intent upon electing M. Clemenceau.

"It would be the strange irony of fate," he said, "if Raymond Poincare should be president of the council of ministers a few months after M. Clemenceau enters the Elysees palace, but that is quite within the order of events. We may have M. Clemenceau as president of the republic and M. Poincare as premier."

Pres. Poincare refused to discuss this possibility saying, "Some one is joking. It is not I."

LAW REQUIRES ALL TO GIVE CENSUS DATA

Citizens Have Right to Ask Enumerators to Show Credentials

Names, ages, the place of birth of both the father and mother and of each member of the family, the date when naturalized, and the date of arrival in the United States are the facts persons are asked to be ready to convey when the census enumerators come around, Jan. 2, is the request of John Moran, federal census supervisor of the Third district.

Persons are warned that refusal to answer the enumerator's questions means that he will be compelled to report such an infringement of the laws to the authorities. A severe penalty is attached to such offenses.

Enumerators will be furnished with the proper credentials and citizens have a right to ask the enumerator to show them.

"WAS BLESSING TOMY DAUGHTER SHE DECLARES"

Wisconsin Woman Will Never Forget Good Tanlac Did in Her Family, She Says

"Tanalac has certainly been a blessing to my daughter; she has gained ten pounds and looks, oh, so much better," said Mrs. Otto Raasch, 191 Fifty-ninth St., Wauwatosa, Wis., recently. Mrs. Raasch and family have lived at their present address for twenty-one years and are well known to practically every one in Wauwatosa.

"Olga had gotten into a dreadfully run down condition," continued Mrs. Raasch. "Her appetite left her completely and her nerves were so unstrung that any little noise or excitement would make her so weak and tremble she would have to lie down. She was very wakeful and restless at night and felt tired out and listless all through the day and was subject to head aches and severe pains in the back. She was losing weight all the time and we became concerned about her."

"A neighbor suggested that she take Tanlac and the way she began to improve right from the first was indeed remarkable. Her appetite came back and she began to feel better and stronger and sleep soundly at night. In fact, Tanlac improved her so much we began giving it to another of my daughters, a little girl, and it also helped her wonderfully, especially her appetite. Both of them now feel perfectly splendid and we will never forget what Tanlac has done for us."

Tanalac is sold in Madison by Luckey Pharmacies, in Jefferson by W. A. Perkins, in Middleton by Dr. A. M. Teckam, in Stoughton by O. N. Paik & Son, in Sun Prairie by W. L. Schultz. -Adv.

COUNTY FARM TO CELEBRATE CHRISTMAS EVE

Santa Claus to Visit 236 Inmates During Program Wednesday

One of the merriest Christmases in the country side is in store for the 236 inmates of the county farm at Verona, where the big amusement hall is being prepared with evergreen and mistletoe. A big tree is to be erected and decorated. Christmas exercises are being planned by several of the inmates of the farmhouse under the direction of H. F. Pien, caretaker.

Everyone at the farm is to receive a present, said Mr. Pien. There are on hand 180 pounds of candy, 20 barrels of apples and 100 pounds of peanuts. The exercises for Wednesday evening and Santa Claus is to distribute the presents. Thursday afternoon there will be a dance.

Christmas celebrations are to be held in the local hospitals. At St. Mary's there will be a lighted tree on each floor and children from Grace Episcopal church will sing carols to the patients. A Christmas tree may be set up in the jail, where there are now only three prisoners.

A ton of the best hard coal will be given to the holder of admission ticket bearing the number to be drawn from the Xmas Box at the Moose Card Party Dance and Raffle at Moose Hall tonight. Turkeys, Geese, Ducks and Big Boxes of Candy will be drawn for during the evening. Ducks for first prizes and chickens for second prizes at cards.

Many Families Plan Lutefisk For Christmas

With the approach of Christmas many of Madison's Scandinavian families are looking forward to a real lutefisk dinner, just as most other folks are to a turkey, goose, or duck. There is no particular reason for eating lutefisk on Christmas day, except that it is too much trouble to prepare oftener than once a year, some facetiously say, but the truth is that it is a Scandinavian custom, centuries old.

In order to get really good lutefisk, according to Prof. Julius Olson of the university, it must be prepared at home. It takes three weeks. Dried cod fish or cod fish is put into water to soak for a week, the water being changed each day to keep it fresh. At the end of the week it is put into lye made of hard wood ashes, not the commercial lye used on the lutefisk that can be bought all ready prepared. This point is very important. After it has soaked in the lye several days, it is again put into water for eight or ten days, by which time it has become light and fluffy and has about trebled in size. It is then cooked for a few minutes only, and served with a sauce of drawn butter. Boiled potatoes should be eaten with it.

To have the dinner a properly lutefisk one, flatbrot, which is a very thin bread baked on a flatiron on the top of a stove, should be served, and also at the end of the meal a pudding called "slutegrot," meaning cream pudding, made of double whipping cream.

Sun Prairie Pupils Give Entertainment

SUN PRAIRIE — A Christmas entertainment was given by the pupils at the high school Thursday night. An operetta, "Christmas With the Old Woman Who Lived in the Shoe," was given by grade children. A cantata, "The Star of the East," was given by the boys' and girls' glee club.

A marriage license has been issued to Miss Ethel Peckham of Sun Prairie and Melvin Randall of Hampden.

Miss Deilah Newby was surprised by her classmates Tuesday evening at her home, the occasion being her birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wilgrube and son, have gone to Predmore, Tex., to spend the winter with Mrs. Wilgrube's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pierce. During their absence Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Boers will occupy their residence.

RELATIVES OF DEAD SOLDIERS ARE EXPLOITED

French Paper Tells of Pilgrims Being Victimized in France

(By the Associated Press) PARIS — Relatives of soldiers who fell at the battle front are being victimized by cab drivers, hotel men, dealers in coffins and grave diggers, according to L'Informateur. The newspaper says "this odious exploitation of grief is such that it cannot be passed over in silence."

It is said in the Champagne and Somme regions pilgrims are charged from 60 to 65 francs for a six mile drive.

Party for Children at Strand Wednesday

The Christmas party to be given by the members of the Kiwanis club at the New Strand Wednesday morning at 10:30, for all Madison children under 13 years of age, will be the largest and most popular party ever given the children of this community. Great care will be exercised to give the children the treat of the season. A gift package will be given them.

Oregon Squad at

Work Twice a Day

PASADENA, Cal.—A schedule of two hard training periods a day—one in the morning and the other in the afternoon—was begun today by the football squad of the University of Oregon in preparation for the game here New Year's day with the team of Harvard university.

The Harvard squad will arrive Friday, according to the present schedule. Many Harvard graduates residing in southern California are planning a great welcome.

$70,000 SPURNED.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Seventy thousand dollars and four players have been offered to the Cardinals for Rogers Hornsby, according to President Branch Rickey's statement today. He added that the offer was refused, and that Hornsby is not for sale. President Rickey would not divulge the name of the club that made the offer. It is generally supposed the bid came from the Giants.

Frank Moran Knocks Out Sergeant Burke In the First Round

NEWARK, N. J.—Frank Moran, the Pittsburgh heavyweight, knocked out Sergeant Jack Burke of Chicago in the first round of an eight round match here last night. Moran weighed 193½ pounds and Burke 188.

Burke tried to rush his opponent as the contest opened and was sent to the floor for a count of eight receiving three hard rights to the head. He arose groggy. Moran scored another right to the head and followed it with a right swing, which landed behind Burke's ear. Burke went down and although conscious was unable to get up before the count of 10.

Mickey Dornley of Newark, 126 pounds, outboxed Joe Benjamin of San Francisco, 134 pounds, in every round of an eight round bout.

Joe Fox, the English featherweight, and Joe Lynch of New York fought eight rounds in a fast pace to a draw. In the final round Fox sent a short right to the jaw that floored Lynch but he was up immediately.

Jack Sharkey of New York, who recently outboxed Jimmie Wilde, English flyweight champion, easily outpointed Patsie Johnson of Trenton in an eight round bout. Sharkey weighed 116 pounds, one pound less than Johnson.

Chick Harley, Star of Gridiron, After "O" in Fourth Sport

COLUMBUS, O.—"Chick" Harley, premier half-back, dash man, and member of the conference baseball title holders of 1917, is trying for his fourth Ohio State team. During the week he appeared for basketball and has already made an excellent impression as a guard. If he wins a letter in the court game this winter he will be the first Ohio State athlete to have won "O" in four sports.

Pete Stinchcomb, varsity quarterback, is another star athlete who has come out for basketball. Stinchcomb in high school was a four-sport man and was rated as the greatest athlete ever turned out of Fostoria high school. He, too, is a guard. He and Harley are the speed merchants of the Buckeye quintet.

All told five football men are candidates for the basketball team, while it is possible two others will come out later. Nemecek, center, MacDonald, end and captain in 1918, and Matheny, sub-fullback, are the other three gridiron men who are out. Slyker and Myers, ends, may come out later.

One more cut in the basketball is to be made after the Christmas training trip. Fifteen of the 22 players now on the varsity roster will be retained.

Only one game will be played in the Madison Basketball association's race tonight, the Pilgrim A. C. and the South Madison fives being billed to battle at the South Madison auditorium at 8:15 o'clock. The other three games have been postponed until after the holidays.

JACK KEENE'S QUIPS

JOE STECHER edged a bit closer to the world's wrestling championship the other night when he threw Wladek Zbyszko on the mat at New York. The match was drawn out, but it had its spectacular moments, and when the end finally came it was with a suddenness that momentarily stunned the huge throng of fans who jammed the armory from drill floor to gallery.

The men had been wrestling for more than two hours and twenty minutes when Stecher clamped a head lock on his bulky opponent. Zbyszko wrangled his head free of the farm boy's punishing grip and struggled to his feet. Picking Joe up, he held him high above his head with surprising ease and whirled him about for a moment or two.

Suddenly he hurled him savagely to the mat and threw himself at him. Stecher, quick as a panther, rolled free of the tumbling body of the giant Pole, sprang upon him as he struck the mat and ensnared him with a combination hold that proved unbreakable—a head scissors and arm lock.

For a moment the spectators were speechless with amazement, but they speedily recovered the use of their vocal chords and out broke with a yell such as the grim army had never known. It was a brilliant and highly satisfactory finish to a contest that was tireless and courageously waged by both men. Zbyszko, never very popular in this city, won new friends by his splendid exhibition, while Stecher was glorified by the mob as he struggled valiantly in the general direction of his dressing room at the conclusion of the match.

Many of the leading colleges already are arranging football games for next year. The Navy Academy has named October 23 for a game with Princeton in the Palmer stadium, with a return engagement at Annapolis in the fall of 1921. The Navy eleven also will play the University of Pennsylvania at Franklin field, Philadelphia, next season.

The Harvard football managers will include William College in their 1920 schedule and have invited the University of Illinois to play a game in the Cambridge stadium on October 28. If Illinois cannot accept, it is believed that Cornell will get this date.

Harvard's game in California on New Year's day has been cancelled as a result of the curtailment of railroad transportation for the purpose of saving coal.

Buck O'Neill, who successfully coached the Syracuse eleven this fall, has signed for another year.

In Capt. Ira E. Rodgers' last three big games for West Virginia, i. e. those against Princeton, Rutgers and Washington and Jefferson, he compiled a record for yards gained that probably has never been equaled by any football player on the gridiron.

In these major contests in the month of November Rodgers figured in gaining no less than 753 yards.

Jimmy Wilde's failure to make good all the flattering things that had been said about him really is less surprising than it would have been if he had proved to be invincible. English boxers have been overrated so consistently that American fans have ceased to take them seriously. Wilde, however, was vouched for by many Americans who had seen him perform and it was hoped that he would prove to be an exception. In standing off Sharkey for ten rounds Wilde did well, considering the difference in weight. But it is not such a marvel that he can stop men ten pounds heavier than himself. The only thing marvellous about Wilde is that it was in England that he learned how to fight.

The New York Yankees have taken back Pitcher Bob McGraw, who was sent to the Boston Red Sox in the famous Mays deal. McGraw looked like a real prospect both with Yankees and Red Sox in such chances as he was given. He will be a pitcher yet.

A boxing tournament for shipyard employees recently was held in San Francisco and a number of promising boys in the various classes were developed, though none of the prize winners is as yet ready for the professional ring. Such tournaments should result in the development of countless worthy aspirants for fistic honors for the shipyards, steel mills and other industrial plants are the natural recruiting grounds for the squared circle. Most of the great fighters have been drawn from lines of endeavor involving manual labor, but this tournament in San Francisco marked the beginning of the first organized plan for the production of talent on a large scale.

Nebraska to Play Penn State in 1920

LINCOLN, Neb.—Nebraska football authorities today announced an agreement had been reached whereby the Nebraska football team will meet Penn State on the latter's grounds Nov. 6 next. Michigan Agricultural college has been booked for Nov. 20 here. The other games scheduled are Notre Dame at Lincoln, Oct. 16 and Kansas at Lawrence, Nov. 13. Both the Army and Navy teams have asked for games, but it is a question whether they will be accepted.

Olympic Tryouts Likely to be Held at Franklin Field

NEW YORK—Unless officials of the Amateur Athletic union and members of the American Olympic committee unexpectedly alter their plans, the final tryouts to select the American team for the Olympic games at Antwerp next year will be held at Franklin field, Philadelphia.

It is learned from an authoritative source that the athletic officials who guide the country's Olympic games' destinies are looking with favor on a plan to hold their deciding trials on the University of Pennsylvania's field, which is regarded as one of the best in the country. As yet no definite steps have been taken, but it is expected that an official announcement soon will be forthcoming.

The American Olympic committee, of which Gustavus T. Kirby is chairman and the Amateur Athletic union through Samuel J. Dallas, president and Frederick W. Rubien, secretary treasurer, is making rapid strides in the work of assembling the formidable athletic talent which will sport Uncle Sam's emblem at the coming games.

PLAN TO MAKE EQUITABLE CAR DISTRIBUTION

The railroad commission has been trying to solve the problem of equitable car distribution for potato shipments in this state. Each year there have been complaints, chiefly of an inadequate number of cars, but also of discrimination in their distribution. During the fall months of this year the complaints have been by far more numerous than heretofore and the commission called a conference or informal hearing at Waupaca on Oct. 23 last to consider the problem. There were at the conference representatives of shippers of the division markets of the state department of agriculture, of the C. & N. W., the C. M. & St. P., the Soo, the C. B. & W. railways, and of the Union Refrigerator Transit Co. Following the conference the commission made investigations at the more important shipping points. It found that while the rules for car distribution issued by the railway administration were meant to be fair, the distribution of available cars at each loading point is generally left to the judgment of the agent, and agents do not follow the same practice at different points in dividing the available cars between shippers. This seems to be due to a lack of established rules.

The commission reached the conclusion that the distribution of cars between shippers for loading potatoes at the same station should be governed by fixed rules and that the matter of fixing rules to govern the distribution of empty cars between stations should be deferred pending further investigation.

The commission does not issue a formal order in the matter, but recommends to the railroad companies interested that they make the following rules effective not later than Jan. 1:

Each shipper will advise the carriers agent each Saturday of the total quantity of potatoes on hand intended for rail shipment. The ratio of the quantity so reported by each shipper to the total quantity reported by all shippers shall be the percentage basis for the distribution of available cars at that station during the ensuing week for potato loading, provided that in the event unforeseen changes arise during the week the agent may revise the percentage basis in accordance with the new conditions.

Each shipper of potatoes shall make written order on the carrier's agent for cars wanted for potato loading.

Cars will not be furnished in excess of a shipper's ability to load and ship promptly.

When a shipper's pro-rata share of the available car supply is a fraction of a car, the fraction will be carried to his credit, and he will be entitled to car supply on the basis of the aggregate of such fractional credits.

The term "today's shipment" in these rules is intended to mean that a car placed for loading not later than 10 a. m. must be loaded and billing instructions rendered before the close of the day on which it is placed.

AT THE THEATERS

HAZEL HAND
Of Hand & Barnett presenting Variety and contagious smiles at the Orpheum this half.

NEW STRAND.
Dorothy Gish has been taken in hand by the authorities again. In one of her earlier releases, you remember, she was confined in a reformatory. "Turning the Tables," her new picture which is being shown at the New Strand theater for the last time today, shows her the lively inmate of a sanatorium. A rollicking love story and lots of that unique Gish humor are said to be entwined in the plot.

The program also consists of the latest Briggs' "Days of Real Sport," comedy entitled "Sissy Slick" and a Prima natural colored picture, "George Lennie Tucker's powerful drama, "The Miracle Man," will open a four day engagement at the New Strand Wednesday.

FULLER.
The indifferent, respectable husband is held up to the gaze of the multitude in "Dear Husbands," the Universal photodrama of the Atos, which is to be shown at the Fuller theater today for four days.
It is said to be a quiet though powerful denunciation of the man who forgets that his wife is his sweetheart, and donning a cloak of professional aggressiveness leaves her seemingly out of his scheme of life.

Ede Streheln, who depicted the romantic role of a lion officer in "The Heart of Humanity," is this morning's villain of "Blind Husbands."

Patricia Blumstein, known for her beauty, plays the role of Mrs. Armstrong.

Katzman-Kidd.
Among the jolly, swinging musical numbers of "Katzman-Kidd," the newest song, dance, fun and girl show produced from the famous comic supplement cartoons, which will be presented at the Fuller Monday, Dec. 29, matinee and night.

John P. Maher wrote the book and lyrics and Donald H. Bester composed the catchy tunes. The piece was staged by Virgil M. Bennett.

CHICAGO HOGS.
CHICAGO—Hogs receipts $1,000 mostly 40@50; lower; bulk 13.25@13.50; top 13.65; heavy 13.25@13.50; medium 13.30@13.50; light 13.15@13.45; light light 12.95@13.25; rest and the result is said to be a swift-moving hilarious fun show.

Going Up.
The sale of seats for the engagement of Cohan and Harris' dazzling musical comedy success, "Going Up," will open at the Fuller theater Wednesday morning, and judging from inquiries surrounding towns will see this remarkable musical play. Mail orders are now being received and all such orders when accompanied by check or money order will be numbered as received and then filled in the order of their receipt.

Otto Harbach and James Montgomery wrote the book and lyrics and Louis A. Hirsch supplied the music.

The cast is large and the chorus is youthful and beautiful.

GRAND.
Any man looking for a course in "How to Make Her Love You," in spite of Horatio, is recommended to go to the Grand theater before Virginia Pearson in "Impossible Catherine" completes its run.
Any girl who has a sneaking admiration for the cave-man method of running off with the girl of his choice, whether she wants to go or not, is also recommended to see "Impossible Catherine."

Catherine Kimberly wears manish clothes and makes red-hot speeches on the "Freedom of Woman." She thinks men are puny weaklings and woman's inferior. Then entered the cave-man.

MAJESTIC.
Florence Billings is the star in the new photoplay called "The Heart of a Gypsy" which will be shown at the Majestic for today and Wednesday. What will strike the observer forcibly is the wholesomeness of the story and its entertainment value—entertainment for the whole family. There is romance without the timeworn sex situations, there is mystery without the improbable, there is rich humor without vulgarity.

MR. CROWNHART

THE announcement that the members of the supreme court and the attorney general have chosen Charles H. Crownhart of Madison for the position of revisor of statutes will be pleasing news to thousands of people throughout the state of Wisconsin.

Mr. Crownhart is a man eminently fitted for any position of public service or public trust. He has been honored on many occasions in the past with public positions of responsibility and he has always brought to the places so filled a high minded conception of public duty and public service.

As chairman of the industrial commission, Mr. Crownhart became best known to the people of Wisconsin. He brought to that office a combination of good business judgment and keen interest in humanitarian aspects in the field of state activity in industrial betterment. He made such a good record that, when his term was about to expire, men of business affairs and men in the world of labor joined in asking that Mr. Crownhart be retained in the service of the state.

To his new position, Mr. Crownhart will bring the same conscientious work. The state is to be congratulated on again enlisting Mr. Crownhart among its servants.

MR. PROUDFIT

MADISON was inexpressibly shocked to learn in the morning's news of the sudden passing of A. E. Proudfit, president of The First National Bank.

Mr. Proudfit's death will mean much to thousands in this community who knew him as a man of the highest integrity, generous minded and courteous in his dealings with men and "square" in all that the term implies.

He was a banker in more than the ordinary sense of the word. His conception of his business did not end with interest and profit. He recognized that a banking institution has duties to a community that should not be circumscribed by narrow and fast rules of commerce. As a result, Madison has been immeasurably benefited by Mr. Proudfit's guidance of the city's largest financial institution.

Madison and Dane county have suffered a distinct loss in the passing of Mr. Proudfit.

BREAKDOWN OF GOVERNMENT

A REMARKABLE article on "The Breakdown of Government," by Lincoln Colcord is to be found in a recent issue of The Nation. The article follows:

Nothing in the Fall-Hitchcock visit to the White House in connection with the Mexican trouble has in any way relieved the seriousness of the situation which Washington is facing. The two Senators found the President flat in bed, covered up to the chin, apparently too feeble to move; they testified as to the alertness of his mind, but the atmosphere of the sick room came through their story. Mr. Wilson is removed from public affairs, except as he follows them by scanning the newspapers. He has not been consulted on the Mexican issue. He does not in any way participate in the deliberations of the Administration.

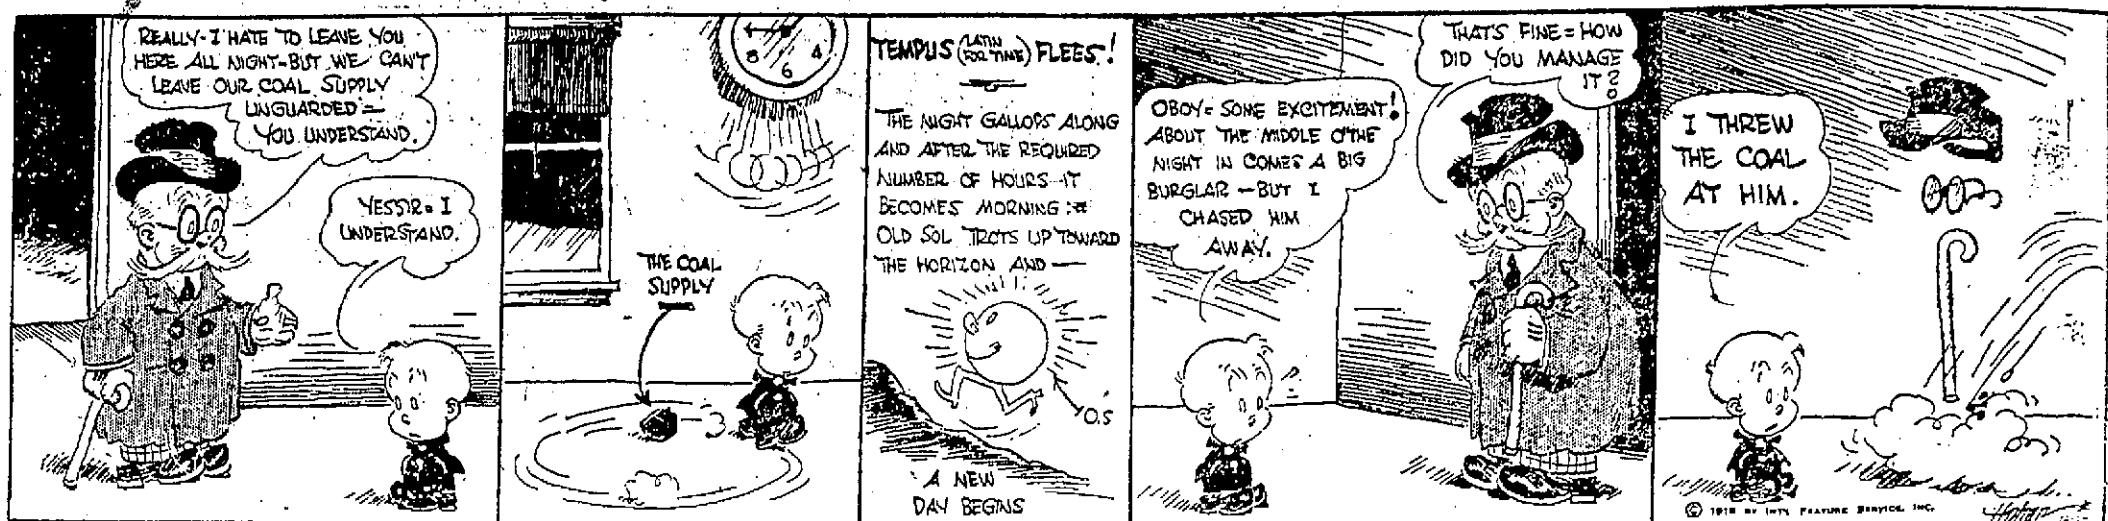

The infinite pity is that this great and pressing public question has been treated on both sides as a personal and partisan matter; but it is the public question which is all-important. From the Fall-Hitchcock interview, it is obvious that the President could not have written the recent message to the Congress; that he did not write it was, of course, apparent at the time to anyone who knew his style and turn of mind. I do not believe he wrote the opening message to the miners five weeks ago, threatening them with the military arm of the Government if they struck. There certainly was no trace of Mr. Wilson in this statement; and in succeeding statements there has been no trace of him. Yet these statements have established governmental policies of first importance, have changed the face of public opinion, have committed the country to an indefensible course—and they have gone out over Woodrow Wilson's name.

If this is not a public scandal, then it would be hard to define the term. The breakdown in the executive branch of government is everywhere apparent. Every Cabinet member is going his own course. A form of government centralized to the highest degree under the development of the past fifty years, and still farther centralized, with respect to the present Administration, through the positively autocratic control which Mr. Wilson has exercised over his Cabinet, is now faced with the necessity of taking action without any directing hand. To draw the parallel with a ship under full sail, in the midst of a squall, and minus her helmsman, would hardly be a figure of speech, the comparison is so accurate. And when it comes to the task of changing policies, of turning the course of the ship, the lack of co-ordination in the Government approaches the disastrous. Ten men are scrambling for the wheel at once, fighting among themselves; one wants to bring the ship to, and another wants to let her fall off. The fatal error of the injunction-proceedings against the miners seems to have been committed by common consent. Then, when the case promised a settlement, the Government could do no better than to present a divided front. Secretary Wilson and Mr. Garfield paraded before the conference their contest over authority; one offered the miners a 31 per cent. increase, the other 14 per cent. When the miners refused the lesser figure, there was nothing left but to invoke the power of the police and the military.

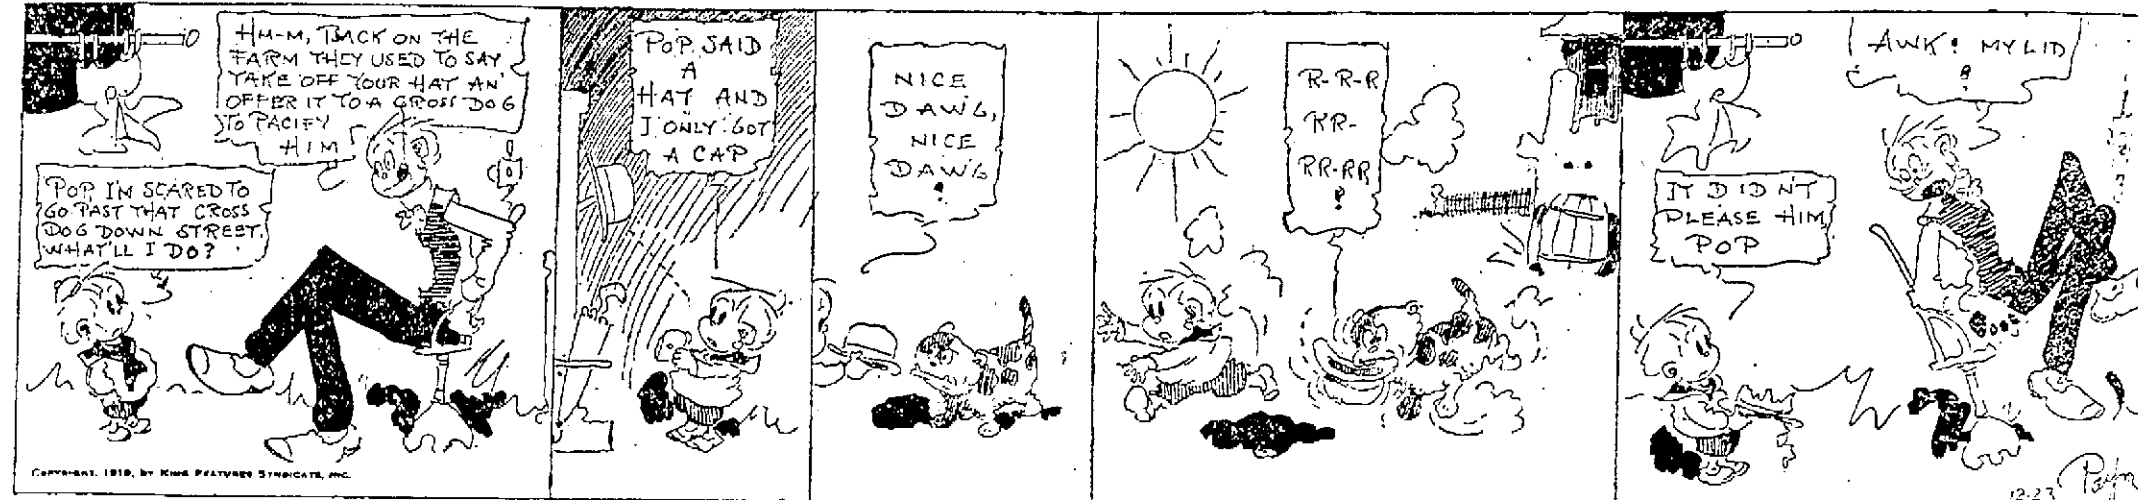

The policy adopted in the miners' strike was frankly an answer to the country's excited state of mind, an effort to demonstrate "force" and "sanity" and to win conservative support. Nothing, of course, could be more stupid. No one in the Government looked forward to the actual coal shortage which this policy made inevitable, to the time when the country would be freezing, when industries would be forced to close down, and when train service would have to be curtailed. No one realized the transient and superficial nature of the demand for "force," or foresaw that it would change in the twinkling of an eye to a sentiment of criticism and condemnation, under the pressure of human necessity. This change is taking place throughout the country today. Men who were fire-eaters a month ago are beginning to realize that a hideous mistake has been made, that the injunction proceedings are humanly, morally, politically, and historically indefensible. In another month's time the mirage of conservative support which Mr. Palmer saw on the horizon will have vanished, and in its place will have rolled up a very real and threatening storm. Then the Government may be expected still farther to confuse the situation, in the attempt to extricate itself.

So much for the executive branch of government. When we turn to Congress, the breakdown is none the less serious. The Senate seems utterly exhausted by the effort of the past six months to solve the treaty puzzle; what might be called the "treaty psychology" has become an obsession, so that it has become impossible for most Senators to take interest in any other problem, to acquire the facts of any other situation, or to

THE SUGAR FACTORY POET

To the Editor of The Capital Times: You will find enclosed a piece of poetry I have written in regard to a sugar mill. The boys out to the factory want it put in The Capital Times. I told them I would take a chance. Hoping to see it soon, Yours truly,

CLARENCE HALVERSON,
728 Williamson St.,
Madison.

Poetry

I am working in a sugar mill
Twelve hours every day,
They keep us there on Sunday
To pass the time away.
I bought a sack of sugar
For eleven cents a pound;
I am going to live this winter
Like a man that wears a crown.
It is getting near to Christmas,
Santa will soon be around,
They say we'll get a bonus
If we only stick around.

CLARENCE HALVERSON.

FINANCIAL PAGE NEWS

To the Editor of The Capital Times: Your issue of Dec. 4th contained an editorial notice to my mind would, if taken notice of by reading and thinking public be of great educational value to all. I refer to the matter of finding "news" of great and far reaching importance on the financial pages of the daily papers and an enclosing you samples of some recently clipped from these pages which perhaps you could use in same manner as that in issue mentioned. The one in regards to Ward & C. "refinancing" is one of hundreds appearing from day to day.

Note their statement of common stock $50,000 shares listed at $25. 500,000 but clipping from another paper stating that this stock is to be "offered to the public" at $45.00 per share. I may not understand thoroughly these "financing" operations but it does seem that some one is going to get some "easy money."

If these can be used for "educational" purposes all right, if not no harm done.

Waukegan, secretary of the Wisconsin Shipbuilding & Navigation Co., promoters of the shipyard, was in the city and stated that the company would secure the services of an experienced naval architect and shipbuilder. About $300,000 is expected to be expended here.

EXPLODES COCKROACHES.

SUPERIOR—John Gulland has come to the conclusion that it does not pay to kill cockroaches with gasoline in the night. While applying the inflammable liquid to cracks in the floor of the pantry of his home to kill the bugs he tried to see what the results of his efforts were with a lighted match, causing an explosion.

NO BOOZE, HIGHER TAXES.

EAU CLAIRE—To raise the $30,000 formerly paid by liquor licenses, taxes have risen to 41 mills, as against 20 mills last year.

Dinner Stories

Teddy hated to wash his face more than once a day. Just as vehemently he liked to use the hose to sprinkle the flowers. Father had to remonstrate with him for oversprinkling his flowers. "You'd make them wilt if you sprinkle them at any time except in the morning," he told him.

A few days later mother was trying to persuade him to wash his face for lunch. Then grandmother tried to use her influence. "Why, I always wash my face before lunch," she told him.

Then Teddy looked at grandma's wrinkles and remembered the flowers. "Yes, and just see how wilted it is," he retorted.

Mr. Albertson, the architect, had been invited down to the Billingtons to display the plans of Billington's new house to some guests.

"Now," explained Mr. Albertson, "here is the front elevation," and he pointed it out on the plans he laid on the library table for the inspection of the visitors. "With the outside window and the circular gallery here; and this is the east elevation showing the tower."

Various comments were made by the guests, and then little Clarence, aged eight, who was greatly interested in the new house, chimed in with:

"And where are the two mortgages father said he was going to put on?"

"Mama, I want a dark breakfast." "Dark breakfast? What do you mean, child?"

"Why, last night you told Mary to give me a light supper, and I didn't like it."

"Do you think Miss O'dgirl will ever change her mind and marry?" "No, if she marries it will be because some man of her acquaintance changes his mind."

It was a portly but very polite person who sat next to Jones in the railway station. "Pardon me," said he to Jones, "but what would you say if I sat on your hat?"

"Suppose you sit on it and then ask me," sarcastically suggested Jones.

"I did," said the portly person, imperturbably.

Very friendly was little Clara; and, to satisfy her gregariousness, she demanded affectionate speech from all and on every occasion.

One evening her big brother Ben was industriously engaged in endeavoring to solve some arithmetical problems. After trying to get his attention several times without receiving any reply whatsoever, Clara appealed to her father to stir Ben up.

"But Ben is busy," said dad. "I know he is," said Clara, "but at least he might have said, 'Saut up!'"

"That woman who just passed in a limousine bowed with marked cordiality," remarked Mr. Jibway. "So she did, the cat!" snapped Mrs. Jibway.

"What was Mrs. Dibbla I've been dodging her ever since I heard she had bought a car. She wouldn't have missed catching me out on foot for a diamond necklace."

"I suppose when Hungary settles its government it will change its form of national assembly."

"Why should it?"

"Because its Diet might not agree with its new constitution."

ON THE SIDE

THE ONE-LEGGED CHICKEN.

We are not at all astounded to note the current news story to the effect that a New York man has raised a one-legged chicken. Men savants and poultry scientists are very much excited, but why? One-legged chickens have been very common in our life. For nearly a year we had one Every Sunday for dinner. At first we were puzzled. Because back on the farm Every chicken we had seen Had two perfectly good legs. After several months it transpired That our maid, Myrtle, Had a young gentleman friend Who dropped in every Sunday Just before dinner was served And camped in the kitchen. Our butcher informed us That every chicken he sent Had two legs. Every chicken Arrived on our table with one. Consulting the lives of Sherlock and his pal, Watson, It became very simple.

THE DOUGHBOY'S PROTEST.

"It gets my goat," the soldier said, "To hear a person say That firms should give us jobs ahead Of other men today; Why they should GIVE us anything Is more than I can see. For we have EARNED jobs when we bring Our country victory!"

—T. Benjamin Faucett.

Curly locks of auburn hue,
Eyes of an eternal blue,
Lips like Daniel Cupid's bow,
Teeth as white as purest snow,
Nose the cutest ever molded,
Hans the softest man ever held.
Personality's her forte.
Always does the things she ought.
Form? Say, listen, just between us,
She's a regular little Venus.
What's her name and address? Well,
Wouldn't I be a boob to tell?

A PRESCRIPTION

O Fool!
Would'st thou be wise?
And—though a pauper—rich?
O miserable son of Adam,
Would'st thou happy be?
Wherefore:
In thine own soul
Set up an altar
(To some sweet daughter of Eve)
And worship with your love
Till thy heart bursts,
And its shrine crumble,
Know then that she be
But woman
And blame her not,
Since now, thou art a man—
Tempered high—perforce cold and dry,
Rich in memory,
Wise in idolatry,
Blessed, if twice or thrice
And—perchance—yet again
A Fool.

A BRITISH MILK EXPERT TELLS HOW

thousands of British soldiers in India were saved from death through milk pollution by the invention of a Chicago man. He made it impossible with a standard cap seal for the milk to be watered. The bibulous of Broadway might well bring the inventor to the White Way to prevent whisky being turned into prune juice.

Under the heading, "Poultry" in its classified columns, a local paper has the following: "Now for sale, nice large Texas peacocks." The question rises as to what sort of bird a peacock is. Isn't it possible they mean toucans?
